

Author details & Biographies

Kateri Evangelia is an Adjunct Lecturer in Clinical Psychology at the Department of Psychology, University of Crete, Greece. Her research interests are mainly focused on the combination of Applied Cross-Cultural Psychology and Clinical Psychology, and specifically include immigrants and refugees adaptation and the role of culture in psychological health, psychological disorders, psychotherapy and, interpersonal relationships.

Email: ekateri@gmail.com

Antonia (Dona) Papastilianou is a Professor in Social Psychology at the National and Kapodistrian University of Athens (Department of Psychology). Her research interests are mainly focused in Applied Social Psychology and Cross-Cultural Psychology, and specifically include cross-cultural adaptation of migrants and remigrants, multicultural issues and psychosocial issues in the community context, social values, social justice and social advocacy issues, emotions and group processes.

e-mail: adpapast@psych.uoa.gr

Evangelos Karademas is a Professor of Clinical Health Psychology at the Department of Psychology, University of Crete, Greece. He also collaborates with the Foundation for Research and Technology – Hellas (FORTH). He is currently the President of the European Health Psychology Society. His research interests include patient adaptation to chronic illness, the role of stress and related factors in health and illness, individual differences in health, self-regulation and dyadic regulation.

e-mail: karademas@uoc.gr